Swan Lake

The lake is nestled among sand dunes and is a good place for a picnic, sand boarding and a lie-down. 30 km west of Portland on the road to Nelson is the turn-off for Swan Lake Rd, a steep, loose-gravel road with a number of sharp twists. Caravans will need to be towed by a 4WD.

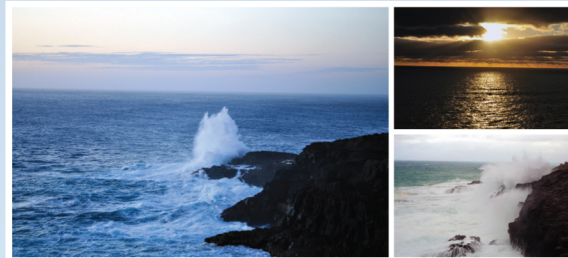

Bridgewater Lake

This is a popular recreational area for fishing, canoeing and water-skiing. If you're interested in surf fishing, beach combing or walking along 60kms of unspoilt beach. To get to the lakes, take the scenic 10 minute drive on Bridgewater Lake Road.

Blowholes

Formed from the lava flows of an extinct volcano the basalt (black) and scoria (purple) rock create spectacular spouts of sea spray during high seas. Located 2 minute walk from the car park.

Petrified Forest

Located 50meters from the car park the forest was formed when sand dunes covered the moonah trees 1000's years ago. Water seeped through the sand and down the trunks decaying the organic matter, leaving behind 'petrified' trunks.

Freshwater springs

The springs can be viewed by taking a 4km round trip from the carpark. Water drains through the limestone and forms a spring at the edge of the cliffs. During colonial times a stone ramp was constructed so that cattle could be herded down there in times of drought.
